Late summer into fall harvest. Field

Lots of sweet potatoes, winter squashes, pie pumpkins, and late planted greens and kales.

This year we want to put a little more variety and quantity in the boxes and to also include a product list telling you each week what you have in your box and some recipes for you to try with your harvest.

Keep your fingers crossed we will have our very own Strawberries this year to harvest and hope for a good growing year to come.

Please note every year is different. There are many challenges in vegetable farming that we as farmers have no control over like wildlife, and weather. We do want to provide you the highest quality fruits and vegetables possible using safe practices so that you and your family are eating healthy. The list of crops above is just some of the things we grow and there are many crops that we grow not listed that will be in the boxes.
